Spirit of EAGLES cordially invites you to attend the 7th National Changing Patterns of Cancer in Native Communities: The Power of Partnerships. The conference is an excellent opportunity for those interested in the health of Native populations to hear from experts in the field. It will focus on evaluating progress through partnerships in cancer epidemiology, cancer control and cancer survival among Native populations in the United States. The comprehensive agenda will concentrate on progress in prevention of cancer in Native groups and in the early diagnosis, treatment and survival of Native people diagnosed with cancer.

This conference is designed to bring together community members, survivors, advocates, researchers, clinicians and other health service providers working with Native populations.
